Test Taking Tips

Article by Jessica Abou Zbib Grade 10

Next week, Mock APs are taking place as well as PSATs. It will be a stressful moment for the students but it's a great way to practice the process of taking the AP & SAT tests and assessing your knowledge on the subject. Here are a couple test-taking tips that you can apply:

1. Be Prepared!

- Plan a study schedule for the subject. How many hours per day will you review? What are you still confused about?
- Figure out the best way for your preparation. Writing notes? Visually? Auditory? Flashcards?

2. Listen to last minute instructions!

- Teachers may alter details in the last minute, make sure you are paying attention.
- This will help reduce the stress level.

3. Read test questions very carefully... Note details!!

- Questions on the test usually contain valuable information that you might not realize are written.
- Read the question more than once and underline/annotate key details.

4. Plan how you will use the limited time!

- Plan when to finish each section of the test and keep your eye on the clock. If you don't plan your time, you might not complete the full paper.
- Some students don't like organizing their time because it stresses them more, so it depends on the student.

5. Be confident! Relax!

- Remain positive and relaxed during the exam... use it as a time to show what you know!
